

The Coca-Cola Company
2010 U.S. Political Contributions Report

Corporate political contributions are legally permitted political donations using the Company's financial resources. While corporations are not permitted to contribute to U.S. federal political campaigns or to the national political parties, they can contribute to state and local candidates in many jurisdictions as well as to the "party building activities" of the national parties.

The Company's political action committees, Coke PAC and CCE FED PAC, are voluntary employee programs funded by employee contributions and donations are made to U.S. federal candidates, committees and parties.

The Company's state political action committees, GEN ST PAC, NM PAC, MD PAC and CT PAC, are voluntary employee programs funded by employee contributions and donations are made to State and Local candidates, committees and parties.

The Georgia Political Action Fund – or "GPAF" – is a legal entity set up to make contributions to state and local candidates, committees and political parties in Georgia. Corporate political contributions are permitted in Georgia.
